SUSTAINABLE HAWAIIAN AGRICULTURE FOR THE KEIKI AND THE 'AINA

CARING FOR THE LAND:

The Importance of HOME RULE What Maui Has to Do With It!

"Limitless irresponsibility cannot be allowed in any system, so we practice the test of responsibility daily, and our rights flow from responsibility like beautiful streams that flow from Maui's mountains naturally. We give them (Biotech) permission to exist, as legal entities, because they are not persons, they are not part of the legal community because they are not beings. A 'legal fiction' cannot claim personhood, cannot claim humanity."

"My tutu once said, 'It is simple, if it hurts anyone, if the decision you make hurts anyone or anything and the ramifications go deep, you have to go back and look for a better answer.'"

and Farmer*

"Home Rule has a special meaning here in Hawaii—a deep meaning. It is to get people together to form a coalition. The best people to form a coalition are the people who love the land, whether you are Hawaiian or non-Hawaiian. If we are going to fight this fight to protect ourselves we are going to have to come together. Home Rule means all of us coming together to form one voice that talks about the future that we want to leave our children. We want to make sure that we all believe that the land, ocean, air, water is much more important than the profits now being preached about in the State Capitol."

—Walter Ritte
Hawaiian Leader and Activist, Molokai

"This is more than an environmental issue. It is an indigenous people's issue. It is about standing on our kuleana laws that existed in the ruling kingdom days. We already recognize in our laws that our land and our water are public trust. We recognize that our ancestors are our resource and we are starting to leverage that."

—Kaniela Ing
*State Representative,
Kihei District, Chair of the Ocean and Hawaiian Affairs Committees*

"Hawaii has a special role to play, we have all recognized in the last few years that we are the laboratory for this type of farming. It is obvious which side we need to be on and how important it is to fight for that. There is an unstoppable tide that is swelling before our eyes. There is no doubt that we are going to win this war. No one can take away the fact that the majority of voters on Maui voted to regulate these companies in the face of an incredible onslaught of advertising. The idea that this is a small but vocal minority has been put to rest."

—Russell Rudderman
State Senator, Chair of the Agriculture Committee

Voters of Maui, you brought the vote, you won the vote, and now let's DEFEND AND ENFORCE THE VOTE. Be a part of the defense, keep up with the legal case and join us at MauiGmoMorationNews.org
